

Population under 5 years old (%)

These maps indicate areas of the country with disproportionately large or small number of young children.

This provides an indication of regional differences in fertility.

