Appeal

Tanzania: Severe Food Crisis - AFTZ92
Appeal Target : US$ 943,985

Geneva, February 10, 1999

Dear Colleagues,

Vulnerable families throughout regions of Tanzania are facing severe food shortages. Initial estimates indicate that as many as 400,000 persons are affected - mostly in the Singida and Dodoma regions, but also throughout as many as 15 of the 20 regions in the country including Mwanza, Shinyanga, Mara, Iringa, Mbeya, Rukwa, Dodoma, Morogoro, Kigoma, Tanga and Mtwara. The emergency situation is complicated due to the inability of the vulnerable regions to fully recover from the drought in 1997 and the El Nino rains in 1998. The food shortage has been seriously increased by the lack of short rains between September and December 1998. During this period it is estimated that Tanzania produces about 25 per cent of its total food requirement. The ministry of agriculture has estimated that 523,247 tonnes of food will be required to assist the affected population.

The Christian Council of Tanzania - Refugee and Emergency Services (ACT/CCT-RES) has worked with its established church and diocesan partners to assess the emergency needs in 12 vulnerable regions of Tanzania. Your urgent consideration is requested for support and funding to provide supplementary food for school children and vulnerable persons, as well as to provide seeds and cuttings for planting during 1999. Please kindly send your contributions to the ACT bank account.

II. IMPLEMENTING ACT MEMBER And PARTNERS

ACT/CCT-RES
The Christian Council of Tanzania is one of the ACT members and an implementor of ACT emergency assistance in Tanzania. The recent experience of CCT includes the implementation of assistance through ACT appeals AFTZ72 and AFTZ81. Assistance projects included School feeding, Supplementary feeding to children under 5 years and general food distributions in the Kyela Ilieje, Kondoa, Bukoba, Sumbawanga, Mwanza and Singida districts. CCT-RES has also, for the past four years, been implementing a farmer based seed multiplication programme for the purpose of improving the availability and accessibility of early maturing and drought tolerant seeds in semi-arid areas. The districts which have been benefiting through this programme include: Dodoma, Manyoni, Musoma, Bunda, Same, Mwanga, Masasi, Shinyanga, Kwimba and Igunga.

With regard to CCT-RES personnel, 4 emergency staff have participated in the 6 week ‘ACT Emergency/Disaster Response & Management Course’ at the Africa University in Zimbabwe.

CCT-RES Church Partner Information
The partners which will work with CCT in implementing this project are:
C Africa Inland Church - Mwanza
C Evangelical Lutheran Church - East of Lake Victoria Diocese
C Africa Inland Church - Diocese of Shinyanga
C Anglican Church of Tanzania - Diocese of Mara
C Evangelical Lutheran Church - Diocese of Iringa
C Moravian Church in Southern Tanzania
C Moravian Church in Rukwa Province
C Anglican Church of Tanzania - Diocese of Central Tanganyika
C Evangelical Lutheran Church - Diocese of Morogoro
C Anglican Church of Tanzania - Diocese of Masasi
C Diocese of Zanzibar and Tanga

All of these Churches/Dioceses are members of CCT. Their experience includes distribution of relief food within ACT appeals AFTZ 72 and AFTZ81. The church partner’s experience also includes rehabilitation and development programmes. The African Inland Church is working with CCT within the Seed Multiplication programme in Mwanza and Shinyanga. The Anglican church is working with CCT in the same programme in Mara, Masasi and Dodoma. The Moravian Church in Southern Tanzania has previously worked with CCT in distributing food and seed in the Ilieje district, as well as working together in a rain water harvesting project.

III. DESCRIPTION Of The EMERGENCY SITUATION

Background
The Emergency situation is complex due to the recurrence of disaster causes and events, resulting in overlapping emergencies and response. The serious food shortage being experienced at the present time has actually been slowly developing since the 1996/97 season. There was drought in that season which affected food production in the country. CCT-RES assistance through AFTZ 72 was part of the ACT response to the emergency.
However, while various agencies including CCT were still working on recovery programmes, the ElNino rains came in the 1997/98 season and caused extensive damage in agricultural production systems and transport networks. It is estimated that the ElNino rains reduced crop production by 15-30 percent. Reports of specific locations such as Masasi indicate that 8916 acres of various crops were damaged by the rain while CCT partners in Mwanza indicate that 59,103 acres were destroyed.

Current situation
The food shortage in 1998/99 is aggravated by the fact that for two consecutive agricultural seasons, the country has been unable to normal production targets. The current food shortage has been seriously increased by the lack of short rain between September and December. During this period it is estimated that the country produces about 25 per cent of her total food requirement. Had the short rains arrived in the 1998/99, the food shortage accrued from 1996 and 1997 would not have worsened.

Among the regions most affected by the drought - hence pockets of serious food shortage include: Mwanza, Shinyanga, Mara, Iringa, Mbeya, Rukwa, Dodoma, Morogoro, Kigoma, Tanga and Mtwara. The ministry of agriculture has estimated that 523,247 tonnes of food will be required to assist the affected population through March 1999.

Impact on Human Lives
The acute food shortage is affecting about 400,000 people (October 1998 estimate by Food Security Department). Surveys conducted by CCT and partners in the mentioned areas have observed indicators of serious food shortages. The indicators have included: Pupils being absent from schools, people surviving on mangoes and wild fruits, men deserting their families, young men increasingly seeking jobs in towns, skin rashes, and worm infections among school children. Journalists visiting Dodoma and Handeni districts have written stories which indicate that there are people dying of starvation. However, the reports have been denied by the respective district governments.

Farmers are selling their livestock as a way of coping with the food shortage, but the drastic fall in the price of livestock makes the effort of little use. It is true that the selling of cattle can provide temporary relief, but within a short time the farmers are likely to be poorer than before. For example, goats in Dodoma now are sold in bunches of 3-5 at a price of Tshs. 9,000 (about USD 13). Normally this will be the price of one goat. This amount of money will only buy 30 kgs of maize at the current price. Bearing in mind that many households have an average of 7 members, 30 kgs of maize would be sufficient for 8 days or at the most 17 days, consuming only 50% of the normal ration.

Description of Damage
The extent of damage in terms of dried crops and deaths of livestock has not been specifically established, but it had previously been estimated that when Tanzania does not receive the normal rains during the short season, that only 25% of the total food requirement can be produced.

The CCT partners are local church organisations which are well established and have long presence in their respective areas. Most of them have pastors/parishes in almost every ward of the affected districts.

The information which is available to CCT, is that in all the targeted regions the government has either issued or is planning to issue food from its Strategic Grain Reserve (SGR). The food form SGR is targeted only to people with the ability to purchase. CCT is also aware that the World Food Program (WFP) has designated Singida and Dodoma regions for food distribution. WFP is also planning a food for work program in some other districts.

Apart from these two actors, CCT is informed of a food donation initiative known as ‘Equal Opportunities for All Trust Fund’ through the ‘Telefood’ program spearheaded by the First Lady - Mama Anna Mkapa. This program donated 7.5MT of food to people in the Handeni district.

Disaster and Emergency Statistics

The general statistics provided in this document have been gathered from various sources, including government departments and church agencies while the specific statistics for the affected districts indicated in the project have been collected from the Dioceses. However, being aware of the activities of other actors and after careful analysis and comparison of the various figures, we have been able to come up with the following statistics to be used for the purposes of this project: (District Name, Number of School Pupils, Number of Persons With No Purchasing Ability, Number of Persons Who Utilize Cuttings, Number of Hectares of Maize and Beans)

Physical Accessibility

The target areas can be reached by road; no accessibility problem is anticipated as the project locations are not expected to get a lot of rain.

IV. ACT APPEAL GOAL And OBJECTIVES

Goal: To reduce the effects of the current food shortage, which includes: school absenteeism, malnutrition, inability to work on family farms, migration, and forced sale of belongings at a give away prices. To improve the Emergency Response Capacity of CCT/RES partner churches and agencies.

Objectives

- C 13,251 pupils to receive 596 MT of food by end of May 1999
- C 20,149 most vulnerable among the affected population to receive 904 MT of food by May 99
- C 2,000 farmer households to receive 10 MT of seeds by March 1999
- C 3,000 farmer households to receive 15 tons of seeds by September 1999
- C 2000 farmers households to receive 2000 bags of sweet potato & cassava cuttings by April 99.

18 CCT-RES partners will participate in an Emergency Response/Disaster Management Workshop (including the use of ACT application and reporting formats) by the end of March 1999. The workshop will focus on improving coordination, monitoring, networking, utilisation of the available resources and advocacy.

V. ACT APPEAL BENEFICIARIES

The targeted beneficiaries are vulnerable rural people who belong to peasant farmers’ communities, and have no economic means to purchase food.

Beneficiary Selection Criteria

The criteria used for selection include:

- Those persons unable to buy the food issued by the government
- Those persons who do not have the physical capability to work for food
- Primary School pupils with higher levels of malnutrition
- Households able to utilise seeds and cuttings in March and September 1999

VI. PROPOSED EMERGENCY ASSISTANCE And IMPLEMENTATION

Description of Assistance

The proposed emergency assistance includes white maize, beans, maize and sorghum seeds, sweet potatoes and cassava cuttings.

Role of CCT-RES

- Facilitation of procurement and movement of the relief items from source to targeted districts.
- Coordinate with international and national bodies/offices of agencies involved.
- Support partners with additional personnel when required.
Role of CCT-RES Church Partners
C Provision of field offices
C Receive and store food before the final destination
C Provision of personnel to escort the relief items to the targeted villages
C Hiring of vehicles for distributing food in respective areas

Transition from Emergency
The plan of transition from Emergency includes conducting a feasibility study in the targeted schools in order to find out to what extent and how will it be possible for them to produce their own food so that they can sustain the proposed school feeding component in this project. The transition plan also includes the enhancement of the ongoing farm seed multiplication programme in the semi-arid areas.

VII. PROJECT ADMINISTRATION, FINANCE, MONITORING, REPORTING

The Refugee and Emergency Services is a semi-autonomous directorate of the Christian Council of Tanzania. The management of the directorate is accountable to a supervisory board which is elected by the general assembly of CCT.

CCT-RES Staff and Responsibilities
C Director: Is the chief accounting officer of the directorate responsible for all administrative issues.
C Emergency Coordinator: Is responsible for day to day coordination and supervision of the project. Is assisted by two project officers; a business administrator and a nutritionist
C Accountant: Is the custodian and book keeper of the project funds. Examines all documents before effecting payments and processes transfer of payments to the partners accounts. Provides the financial reports and liaises with partners on financial reports

Project Finance Management and Controls
There is a separate Bank account which is currently used for ACT appeal funds from AFTZ 81. As this appeal is being closed out, this account may continue to be utilized for ACT appeal funds.

Financial applications are submitted by partners, and are then examined by the Emergency Coordinator for an initial approval. The accountant also examines the partner’s application and an approval is made by the coordinator before forwarding the application to the CCT-RES Director for final approval. The approved funds are then disbursed.

The ACT Appeal funds and accounts are examined by both the internal and external auditors.

Project Monitoring Procedures
C CCT/RES staff will pay at least three visits to the dioceses: before, during and after the distributions have taken place.
C During the visits the staff will examine progress/implementation: verifying documents such as school attendance registers, food distribution forms, village Extension Workers reports, observation of physical appearances and interview with the beneficiaries.
C Diocesan Development Officers progress reports will also be examined on monthly basis.

IX. COORDINATION

CCT-RES and ELCT/TCRS have formed a joint ACT Tanzania coordination committee which approves appeals through these implementors, prior to submission to the ACT Coordinating office in Geneva. CCT is represented by the RES director on this committee.

CCT, through RES is represented on the National Sub-Committee for emergency, which is chaired by the Prime Minister’s office. The World Food Program serves as the committee secretariat.

At the regional and district levels, CCT-RES partners are members of the Regional/District Relief Committees, which coordinate relief activities in their respective area.
