- (d) Verification of outside allegations during area clearance operations
- (e) Guarantee for security and human rights of the people
- (f) Conflict prevention and humanitarian aids
- (g) Measures to avoid similar incidents in the future

34. The Commission is looking into the allegations contained in the report of the Office of the High Commission on Human Rights on 3 February 2017. From 10 to 17 February 2017, the Commission made field visit to twenty villages where alleged abuses were reportedly taken place.

35. The report of the Investigation Commission was scheduled to submit to the President on 31 January 2017. However, the submission date is extended so that a thorough report could be prepared after necessary investigations.

36. At the request of the National Investigation Commission, the military and police formed their own investigation teams to probe into the allegations.

37. In addition, the Myanmar side get in touch with the Bangladesh side for possible visits of some members of the Investigation Commission to Cox's Bazar.

Matters related to Kachin and Northern Shan State

38. For a country that has experienced over six decades of internal armed conflict, nothing is more important than the achievement of lasting peace and national reconciliation.

39. Myanmar convened the first session of the Union Peace Conference, also known as the 21st Century Panglong which is based on the principle of inclusiveness and embodies the spirit of Union. The first session of the Conference took place in Nay Pyi Taw from 31 August to 1 September 2016. Now, preparations are underway to convene the second session of the Conference which is scheduled to be held in the near future.

40. It is the first vital step on the country's journey to national reconciliation and lasting peace. A series of discussions are continuing on political framework and political dialogues.

41. At the same time, we have much concern about some clashes in Northern Shan State and Kachin State recently. Part of the reason is expanding territory with the aim of claiming more land in the process of peace and political dialogues. There are also clashes among the non-state actors for similar disputes.

42. Trust building is important to reduce the tensions from both sides. Both sides need to avoid any action that may lead misunderstanding. To do so, it is prerequisite for parties involved in clashes to sign the NCA. That is why the government is encouraging the remaining non-signatory groups to join the NCA as early as possible.

Humanitarian Aid Activities in Kachin State

43. There are concerns raised by some about access to non-government controlled areas to provide humanitarian assistance.

44. The question is the number of IDPs in non-government controlled area. There are 100 IDP camps in the area. 80 are in government-controlled area while the rest 20 are in the other side. It is said that there are over 40,000 population in 20 camps which is higher than the number of IDPs in 80 Camps located in government-controlled areas.

45. There is no restriction imposed on United Nations agencies and other international organizations as well as local NGOs to provide assistance to displaced persons in government-controlled area.

46. The military has designated 11 points in government-controlled area where displaced from the other side can come out and bring the assistance back.

Sexual Violence

47. Please refer to the annex table for actions taken against military personnel who committed rape and sexual abuses.

48. Reference is made to paragraph 56 of the report in connection with the case of Maran Lu Ra and Tangbau Hkwan Nan Tsin, the military extended its full cooperation with the Court. All 26 military personnel were investigated and found not guilty. Nonetheless, some suspects from non-government controlled area never appear before the court.

Proposed Benchmark

49. Myanmar is considering the benchmark suggested by the Special Rapporteur.

Observations by the Government

50. Myanmar established National Investigation Commission on 1 December 2016 to probe into violent attacks in October 2016 and to verify outside allegations during area clearance operations. Although the report was due earlier, the Commission mandate has been extended as new allegations from the OHCHR report need to be verified. Until now, the Commission works is continuing with strengthened capacity and wider scope in area. As such efforts are yet to be conclusive, establishing a Commission of Inquiry described in Paragraph 88 (a) of the report shall not only make the Government's efforts difficult but also be counterproductive. By the same reason, the notion of a Special Session of the Human Rights Council is unwarranted.

51. The action of the OHCHR office and its report came to knowledge of the government as a surprised whilst Myanmar is demonstrating constructive cooperation with the Office at the high level of government. The works leading to the report did not apply a balanced approach, and it suggests no solution to the current and persistent issues in Rakhine State. It focused on actions for penalizing based on allegations.

52. Myanmar takes note of other information and recommendations contained in the report and responses will be made as and when appropriate.
