

MOZAMBIQUE CYCLONE IDAI

Four months on from Cyclone Idai's landfall on 14 March, the humanitarian response has reached more than 1.8 million people across the central region of Mozambique. Humanitarian action scaled-up rapidly, with more than 400 organizations joining the response and more than 1,000 aid workers deployed to the affected areas. However, the response remains under-funded, with just under 45 per cent of the required funding received.
