The number of Syrians affected by conflict has grown rapidly. More than 5 million people are displaced within Syria and another 2 million have fled to other countries in the region. Since the crisis began in 2011, CERF has allocated US$134 million to Syria and neighbouring countries that have been affected by the crisis. Since 2011, UN agencies and IOM in Syria have received more than US$80.6 million in CERF funds. An additional US$53.4 million has gone to relief agencies supporting Syrians who have fled to Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq. The US$81.2 million allocated to helping Syrians across the region represents 17.2 per cent of total CERF allocations in 2013.

BY SECTOR as of 4 December 2013
(in million US$)

- Food: 28
- Shelter and NFI’s: 26.4
- Health: 26
- Multisector: 18.6
- Water and sanitation: 18.4
- Protection, Human Rights and Rule of Law: 7
- Education: 5.7
- Agriculture: 1.9
- Security: 1.5

BY AGENCY as of 4 December 2013
(in million US$)

- UNHCR: 33
- UNICEF: 31.7
- WFP: 23.6
- WHO: 11.7
- UNRWA: 9.6
- UNFPA: 7.3
- IOM: 7
- FAO: 5.6
- UNDP: 3.7
- UNESCO: 3.7
- UN Women: 0.3