Emergency Response

In 2017, Uganda has continued to respond to the refugee influx from South Sudan, with 181,170 new arrivals between 1 January and 31 March 2017. In February 2017, UNHCR and the Office of the Prime Minister opened a new settlement at Imvepi, in Uganda’s Arua district, to enhance reception capacity for new arrivals. More than 86 percent of new arrivals are women and children. South Sudanese new arrivals refugee status on a prima facie basis.

Protection

UNHCR works with the Government to provide effective protection for refugees and asylum seekers in Uganda. Its multi-year strategy is to ensure registration, documentation and status determination through effective functioning of the Refugee Eligibility Committee and the Refugee Appeals Board in line with the Refugee Act of 2006 and the Refugee Regulations of 2010.

UNHCR and partners ensure legal support; social services, including child protection, assistance to vulnerable persons, SGBV response, psychosocial activities and community building in the settlements.

SOLUTIONS OUTLOOK

In response to the Government of Uganda’s request for support for the Settlement Transformative Agenda (STA), the UN family and the World Bank are in the process of developing a five-year Refugee and Host Population Empowerment (ReHoPE) strategy, a multi-year joint framework for self-reliance and resilience programming for refugee and host communities in Uganda’s ten refugee-hosting districts. ReHoPE seeks to move beyond a traditional ‘care and maintenance approach’ to enable refugees and their host communities to become safer, self-reliant and to live their lives with dignity. ReHoPE ultimately aims to develop new and innovative approaches to protracted forced displacement by addressing the humanitarian-development nexus. This goal is expected to be achieved through joint analysis, collective advocacy, integrated service delivery and joint resource mobilization. The ReHoPE strategy provides the basis for proposed joint programming of up to $350 million over five years.

ReHoPE emphasizes close working relationships between the Government, UN, World Bank, private sector and development partners in planning and implementation. The Office of the Prime Minister (OPM) Department of Refugees, key line ministries and the nine District Local Governments (DLGs) are central partners in the planning and coordination of development-oriented interventions and in basic service provisions. The Government leadership ensures that UN and World Bank support will promote resilience and self-reliance in line with the local development priorities, given the recognition that refugees, nationals and hosting-districts face similar development and basic service delivery challenges and are more susceptible to shocks than areas not hosting refugees.

The ultimate goal is to provide economic assistance and social service provision and for it to be mainstreamed through the DLGs in order to improve equity, relevance and cost effectiveness, in ways that support refugees and host communities without distinction. The way service delivery is integrated will differ between regions. In regions where refugees are settled on community owned land (e.g. West Nile), as well as in Kampala, the refugee groupings will be smaller and interspersed among the local host community. In contrast, in those regions where refugees are in gazetted settlements, with infrastructure already built, it will be a matter of gradually handing over existing services and infrastructure to local government. In both situations, support to, and capacity development of, DLGs is needed to ensure that basic service delivery is maintained despite the added population.

- To date, a number of initiatives have been launched in support of ReHoPE:
  - The Koboko Partnership - a public-private partnership between the Government of Uganda Office of the Prime Minister, Koboko District Local Government, UNHCR, ACAV (a civil society organization) and Kato EcoFarming (a private enterprise) to provide 7,500 refugee and host community households with training on modern agricultural techniques and improved access to markets.
  - Yunus Social Business – a partnership between UNHCR and Nobel Prize winner Muhammad Yunus' social entrepreneurship vehicle designed to leverage the strength of the private sector to create jobs, generate income, and empower and capacitate the youth.
  - OPM-WFP-UNHCR Joint Project for Self-Reliance - a multi-year project in Rwamwanja and Kyangwali settlements to deliver comprehensive support in agriculture and non-farm income generating activities to 3,500 refugee and host community households, thereby reducing food dependency enhancing food diversity and increasing self-reliance and resilience.
  - The Japanese International Cooperation Agency (JICA) has provided support to three refugee settlements through their Promotion of Rice Development (PRiDe) project, enhancing refugee self-reliance by improving access to markets for cash crops.

- A multi-disciplinary approach through innovative solutions is key for livelihoods including SGBV, youth employment and empowerment, and energy and environment.

- The World Bank's Regional Operation on Development Response to Displacement Impacts Project in the Horn of Africa (DRDIP) is a US$175 million lending operation that aims to improve access to social services, expand economic opportunities, and enhance environmental management for host and forcibly displaced households in the targeted areas of Djibouti, Ethiopia and Uganda. The project's investments will focus on: (i) socio-economic development; (ii) sustainable environmental management; (iii) livelihoods; and (iv) project management and regional and national institutional support. As part of this project, the Government of Uganda is borrowing US$50 million to support its Settlement Transformative Agenda. DRDIP will focus on the following refugee-hosting districts: Adjumani, Arua, Kirenyandongo and Isingiro.

DURABLE SOLUTIONS

- UNHCR facilitates voluntary repatriation when conditions in the country of origin have improved and, on a limited basis, resettlement, whereby a refugee family leaves the country of asylum and legally settles in another third country. UNHCR is currently working together with the Government of Uganda on creative legal solutions for long-staying refugees that are unwilling or unable to return.

- Resettlement is used as an individual protection tool for refugees with acute protection needs, as well as a durable solution for refugees in protracted situations. Uganda is one of four countries implementing a sub-regional approach to enhanced resettlement for Congolese refugees, which was introduced in 2012.

- During a meeting in February 2015, the Great Lakes Refugee Core Group committed to exploring the potential of de jure local integration for 15,000 long staying refugees by bringing the issue to high levels within the Government. This is in line with the Core Group's objective to provide a comprehensive range of solutions for all refugees in Uganda. This was addressed in a meeting with the Prime Minister in May 2015, who recommended the pursuit of an interim solution such as long-stay residence permits for this caseload as a pathway towards eventual naturalization. An Inter-Ministerial Taskforce has been constituted to look into the requirements to enable the full implementation of this outcome.

- Naturalization of Protracted Refugee Cases: The Government is exploring the possibility of providing naturalization to 2,318 individual refugees who all arrived before 1995. This clear expression of the Government of Uganda commitment has been lauded by donors who have indicated their willingness to support the Government in this endeavour.
Education

- Refugee children are granted with the same rights to education as their Ugandan counterparts, providing them with free universal primary and secondary education (UPE). However, hidden costs, such as teacher salaries and scholastic materials, hinder the abilities of many refugees to afford to attend school, especially at secondary level. At the end of 2015, around two-thirds of children of primary-school age were attending education, while at secondary level that figure drops to around 5.5%.

- Partnership with central and local district government, Ministry of Education Science, Technology and Sports (MoESTS), UN agencies, international and national NGOs and educational actors are key. District Education Officers (DEO) and District Local Governments (DLG) are the key players, and they work closely with the Ministry of Education Science, Technology and Sports (MoESTS), the Office of the Prime Minister, and International and National NGOs.

- In August 2016, Government of Uganda, UNHCR and WFP announced that, due to continued and severe underfunding, food rations would be revised by 50% for all refugees who arrived in Uganda prior to July 2015. Exceptions have been made for particularly vulnerable refugees.

- In collaboration with the District Local Governments, technical teams from the health and nutrition partners, under the leadership of the Office of the Prime Minister, are working closely to identify malnourished children in the settlements (refugees and host community children) and enrol them on supplementary and therapeutic feeding programmes. UN agencies coordinate with the partners in addressing challenges related to malnutrition and micronutrient deficiencies among children.

- WFP provides food rations for persons of concern at transit and reception centres as well as a monthly food ration once refugees are moved to settlement plots. The settlement policy whereby refugees are settled on land plots provides them with the opportunity to produce some of their own food. In addition, UNHCR partners carry out agricultural and livelihood activities.

- UNHCR and partners endeavour to meet the minimum water requirements following UNHCR Standards (15 litres per person per day) during the emergency and UNHCR minimum standard (20 litres per person per day) when the situation is stable. This includes drilling and motorisation as well as maintaining boreholes, connection to main water lines, or water trucking. Sanitation activities are supported by partners to achieve 1 latrine per household and public health promoters are trained on an ongoing basis in all refugee-hosting sites, to enhance knowledge and improve on practice.

- The operation follows the standardised shelter kits and core relief item distribution scale. Procurement and provision of minimum shelter and core relief items is a priority with new arrivals. Additional shelter and NFI support is also provided to persons with specific needs who are long stayers in the country. A new shelter strategy is being developed to transition from emergency shelter to a semi-permanent shelter approach.

- The Office of the Prime Minister (OPM) is primarily responsible for the Settlement Management.

- UNHCR, with the support of partners, coordinates the maintenance and running of 3 transit and 4 reception centres as well as 5 waystations and 2 collection points: in the northwest Nyumanzi transit centre (TC), Ocea reception centre (RC), Elegu Collection Point (CP) and Kuluba CP; in the midwest of Kabwoya waystation (WS), Kagoma RC and Kiryandongo
RC; and in the southwest of Bubukwanga TC, Nakayojo WS, Kyenjojo WS, Ishasha WS, Muhokya WS, Malembo RC and Nyakabande TC.

Access to Energy

- UNHCR is developing an Environment Impact Assessment and Action Plan per settlement and plans on the implementation of the Global Safe Access to Fuel and Energy Guidelines (SAFE). The operation focuses on environment conservation and protection; and promotes access to energy saving stoves and alternative clean fuels.

Logistics

- UNHCR works with partners to ensure transportation of non-food items to the various sites is coordinated. It also works with relevant partners to ensure transportation support for newly arrived refugees and assisted spontaneous returns.
