Operational Context

Myanmar is amidst an important political and socio-economic transformation. The country is highly susceptible to natural disasters and climate risks. An estimated 24.8 percent of its 54 million population live near or below the poverty line. Many struggle with physical, social and economic access to sufficient, safe and nutritious food with women, girls, elderly persons with disabilities and minorities affected most.

Wasting prevails at 6.7 percent nationally. Myanmar is one of the world’s 20 high tuberculosis burden countries. It is also among 35 countries accounting for 90 percent of new HIV infections globally.

Ethnic conflict exacerbates an already fragile situation. Over 1 million people have been displaced from their places of origin since June 2011. With restrictions on movement and lack of access to livelihoods, many conflict-affected populations rely on assistance to survive. Attacks on border outposts in August 2017 and ensuing violence forced over 700,000 Muslims to flee Rakhine State and seek refuge in Bangladesh, leading to a humanitarian crisis and activation of WFP’s corporate Level 3 response, since downgraded to Level 2.

WFP implemented its first operation in Myanmar in 1978 in Rakhine State and established its first office in 1994.

Challenges

The security situation in Shan State has deteriorated significantly following a series of coordinated attacks by an alliance of three ethnic armed groups in Shan State and Mandalay Region and ensuing armed clashes. As a result, WFP was not able to complete some community asset creation projects and had to partially postpone implementation of its school feeding programme in Shan State. WFP continued to coordinate closely with partners to ensure continuation of the existing assistance and to stand by to respond to the new needs.

August, the nutrition promotion month

To get to Zero Hunger, food is not enough. Providing food assistance in an emergency can save lives, but the right nutrition at the right time can also help change lives and break the cycle of poverty. It is critical to couple food and nutrition assistance with targeted nutrition promotion to leverage the benefits.

In August, WFP offices across Myanmar engaged with partners, beneficiaries and stakeholders to keep nutrition firmly in public health priorities. WFP also reached out to business associations and companies to form the Scaling Up Nutrition Business Network in Myanmar.

In Chin State, Kachin State and Naga region, WFP and partners held demonstrations to show how to combine locally available meat and vegetables into a healthy food pyramid. These demonstrations were coupled with activities that enhanced the beneficiaries’ and local communities' knowledge of factors underlying good nutrition, such as feeding and hygiene practices.

Nutrition promotion month is an important nationwide initiative by the Ministry of Health and Sports which WFP was honoured to take part in. With refreshed commitments in August, WFP encouraged all its partners to keep the momentum alive through the coming months and years.
