Summary

During May 2017, seven incidents of violence against health care were reported. Of these six were verified and one is in the process of verification. Of the verified attacks four incidents were on health care structures providing trauma treatment, while one attack was on health workers and medical point. Two incidents happened in rural Damascus and Dar’a, one each Homs, Hama. Collectively, the attacks resulted in the killing of at least four people, including one medical staff, and wounding at least 18 persons including three medical staff.

The targeted facilities went out of services temporarily or remained partially open, while one ambulance went out of service.