SITUATION ANALYSIS

- The several-fold increase in prices of essential commodities combined with the deteriorating economic situation of households have left many Syrians unable to provide for the basic necessities of life including decent clothes for their children. This is particularly true about families who have been displaced several times during the crisis and continue to live under dire conditions.

- Social protection is a key ingredient for sustainable peace and development, by enhancing the resilience of the most vulnerable families and strengthening the continuum between humanitarian and early recovery interventions.

RECENT HIGHLIGHTS

- During 2019, UNICEF reached some 8,900 children with severe disabilities in Aleppo, Al-Hasakeh, Homs, Rural Damascus and Tartous Governorates with cash assistance and case management services.

- Also, UNICEF has reached over half a million children with seasonal clothes and blankets, of whom 136,000 live in hard-to-reach areas. Also, almost 66,000 vulnerable families in some of the most impoverished quarters of Aleppo, Al-Hasakeh, Duma, Homs, Hama, Qamishli and Lattakia benefitted from UNICEF’s distribution of e-vouchers to purchase the items they need to protect their children from the cold weather.
