OPERATIONAL GUIDANCE ON DESIGNATING SECTOR/CLUSTER LEADS IN ONGOING EMERGENCIES

Detailed guidance on the cluster approach is provided in the IASC Guidance Note on Using the Cluster Approach to Strengthen Humanitarian Response (November 2006).

Why is there a need to designate sector/cluster leads in ongoing emergencies?

- The aim of the cluster approach is to strengthen humanitarian response by ensuring high standards of predictability, accountability and partnership in all sectors or areas of activity.
- The IASC has agreed that the cluster approach should be used in all contingency planning for major new emergencies; in all responses to major new emergencies; and eventually in all countries with Humanitarian Coordinators.
- In ongoing emergencies, the IASC has agreed that introduction of the cluster approach should be a field-driven process, to ensure full ownership by humanitarian actors in the countries concerned.

What is a “sector/cluster lead”?

- A “cluster lead” is an agency/organization that formally commits to take on a leadership role within the international humanitarian community in a particular sector/area of activity, to ensure adequate response and high standards of predictability, accountability & partnership. A “cluster lead” takes on the commitment to act as the “provider of last resort” in that particular sector/area of activity, where this is necessary.
- A “cluster” is essentially a “sectoral group” and there should be no differentiation between the two in terms of their objectives and activities; the aim of filling gaps and ensuring adequate preparedness and response should be the same.

What are the responsibilities of sector/cluster leads and who is accountable to the HC?

- The sector/cluster lead for any given sector is an agency, not a person. For that reason, at the country level it is the Country Director/Representative of the agency/organization designated as sector/cluster lead who is ultimately accountable to the HC for ensuring that relevant sector/cluster leadership activities are carried out effectively.
- The specific responsibilities of sector/cluster leads are described in detail in the IASC Generic Terms of Reference for Sector/Cluster Leads (Annex 1 of the Guidance Note on Using the Cluster Approach to Strengthen Humanitarian Response). These lay out minimum standards for all sector/cluster leads, including the need to ensure that agreed priority cross-cutting issues such as age, diversity, environment, gender, HIV/AIDS and human rights are effectively addressed in all sectors. The IASC Generic Terms of Reference may be contextualized and added to, but may not be reduced.
- Sector/cluster leads are responsible for ensuring that within their sectors focal points are nominated for Early Recovery and for agreed priority cross-cutting issues, as appropriate, to ensure that these issues are included in sector work plans and appeals.
- Sector/cluster leads at the country level are responsible for ensuring adherence to norms, policies and standards agreed at the global level and should treat the global level clusters as a resource that can be called upon for advice on global standards, policies and ‘best practice’, as well as for operational support, general guidance and training programmes.
- Sector/cluster lead agencies at the country level are responsible for appointing appropriate individuals, with the necessary seniority, facilitation skills and expertise to be the sector/cluster coordinators. In some cases, there may be a need for sector/cluster lead agencies to appoint dedicated, full-time sector/cluster coordinators with no other programme responsibilities.
- Country Directors/Representatives of agencies designated as sector/cluster leads are responsible for ensuring that the HC, OCHA and the Humanitarian Country Team are informed of the names and contact details of the individuals designated as sector/cluster coordinators and that they are kept regularly informed of any changes.
- In cases where stakeholders consider that a sector/cluster lead agency at the country level is not adequately carrying out its responsibilities, it is the responsibility of the HC to consult the Country
What is expected of sector/cluster partners?

- Humanitarian actors who participate in the development of common humanitarian action plans are expected to be proactive partners in assessing needs, developing strategies and plans for the sector, and implementing agreed priority activities. Provisions should also be made in sectoral groups for those humanitarian actors who may wish to participate as observers, mainly for information-sharing purposes.

How are sector/cluster leads expected to relate to local government structures?

- “Each State has the responsibility first and foremost to take care of the victims of natural disasters and other emergencies occurring on its territory. Hence, the affected State has the primary role in the initiation, organization, coordination, and implementation of humanitarian assistance within its territory.” (GA Resolution 46/182)

- A key responsibility of sector/cluster leads at the country level is to ensure that humanitarian actors build on local capacities and maintain appropriate links with Government and local authorities, State institutions, civil society and other stakeholders. The nature of these links will depend on the situation in each country and the willingness and capacity of each of these actors to lead or participate in humanitarian activities.

- By designating clear focal points within the international humanitarian community for all key sectors or areas of activity, the cluster approach should help governments and local authorities to know who to approach for support. This should help ensure more timely, predictable and adequate responses.

- In ongoing emergencies, it is the responsibility of sector/cluster leads to ensure that national authorities/counterparts are fully briefed on the ongoing humanitarian reform process and that they are closely consulted on issues related to their respective sectors.

What sectors/clusters should be established and who should lead them?

- In terms of what sectors/clusters are established at the country level, this may differ from the set of sectors/clusters established at the global level. For example, there may be cases where particular sectors are merged (e.g. Health and Nutrition). There may also be cases where particular sectoral groups are not needed (e.g. Logistics or Emergency Telecommunications). Sector/cluster leads should only be designated for the sectors relevant to the emergency.

- In the case of Protection, at the global level there are focal point agencies for issues such as Gender Based Violence (UNFPA). Similar arrangements can be made at the country level, as appropriate.

- In terms of who should lead each of the sectors/clusters at the country level, to enhance predictability, where possible sector lead arrangements at the country level should be in line with the lead agency arrangements at the global level. This principle should, however, be applied flexibly, taking account of capacities and strengths of humanitarian organizations already in the country/region. This may mean that in some cases sector lead arrangements at the country level do not replicate those at the global level. In such cases, it is particularly important that sector/cluster leads at the country level consult and maintain good communications with the respective global cluster leads, to ensure that agreed global standards/procedures are applied and to help mobilize the necessary operational support from the global level.

- The designation of sector/cluster leads should be based on transparent consultations within the Humanitarian Country Team and should take account of existing operations and capacities.

- Any IASC member can be a sector/cluster lead; it does not have to be a UN agency.

- Early Recovery planning should be integrated into the work of all sectoral groups. For this reason, rather than establishing separate Early Recovery clusters/sectoral groups at the country level, it is recommended that each cluster nominate an Early Recovery focal point. The focal points should form a “network” to ensure joint planning and integrated response.

- To complement and support the clusters, thematic groups should also be established where needed to address priority cross-cutting issues.

- In some cases, sector/cluster leads may designate other partners to act as sector/cluster focal points in parts of the country where they have a comparative advantage or where the sector/cluster lead has no presence. These focal points remain under the overall leadership of the sector/cluster lead.

- In all instances clusters/sectoral groups at the country level should be inclusive of those organizations with real operational capacities in their respective sectors. They should be results-oriented, with a clear focus on ensuring adequate humanitarian response. This includes addressing any gaps that may exist in the overall response.
How long should sectors/clusters continue to function?

- The HC (or RC), in consultation with humanitarian partners, is responsible for adapting coordination structures over time, taking into consideration the capacities of the host Government, development partners, local organizations etc.
- Sector/cluster leads are responsible for developing exit, or transition strategies for their clusters. These strategies should be developed in close consultation with national authorities and development actors, in order to strengthen national coordination capacities. Some clusters may phase out or transition into other arrangements earlier than others.

STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES FOR INTRODUCING THE CLUSTER APPROACH IN ONGOING EMERGENCIES

Step 1. The HC ensures that the Humanitarian Country Team, government counterparts, national NGOs and other stakeholders are fully briefed on and familiar with the principles of the cluster approach. This includes ensuring that the IASC Guidance Note on Using the Cluster Approach to Strengthen Humanitarian Response is widely disseminated. Where necessary, the HC should arrange for special meetings or workshops to discuss the cluster approach and other aspects of the humanitarian reform process.

Step 2. The HC facilitates discussions with national authorities/counterparts and a transparent consultative process amongst humanitarian partners to assess needs, operational gaps and response capacities (including those of the government, local authorities, and local civil society).

Step 3. Based on these consultations and this assessment of needs, operational gaps and response capacities, the Humanitarian Country Team, under the leadership of the HC, determines priority sectors or areas of activity for the emergency; which agencies are best placed to assume the role of sector/cluster lead within the international humanitarian community for each one; what thematic groups are needed to address cross-cutting issues; and what support is needed from OCHA and other actors in terms of common tools and services. In some cases, few or no changes to the existing structure may be needed. In other cases, changes may be needed to address “gap” areas and to enhance predictability and accountability. Before proposing new arrangements to the ERC, the HC should ensure that: (1) lead agencies at the country level consult their respective Headquarters; and (2) agencies with global sector/cluster lead responsibilities are consulted (at both the country level and Headquarters level) concerning their respective sectors. The HC may also propose the establishment or realignment of thematic groups for particular priority cross-cutting issues.

Step 4. The HC informs the ERC of any changes that are made at the country level in the process of introducing the cluster approach. This is to help agencies’ Headquarters to plan their activities and undertake the necessary resource mobilization efforts, particularly where major gaps are identified and significant additional response capacity is needed. If in the process of introducing the cluster approach no new sector/cluster leads are designated, the HC should inform the ERC of this, while confirming that the cluster approach will be applied in order to ensure high standards of predictability, accountability and partnership in all sectors.

Step 5. The ERC shares the proposal with the IASC with a request for endorsement or alternative proposals within one week. The ERC ensures agreement is reached within the IASC at the global level. Where agencies at the global level propose arrangements that differ from those initially proposed, the ERC consults the HC and IASC further in order to reach agreement.

Step 6. The HC informs the host government and all relevant country-level partners of agreed arrangements within the international humanitarian response. Common Humanitarian Action Plans and appeal documents should clearly state the agreed priority sectors and the designated leads for each.
